

PRIME CONNECTION

Courtesy of Berry Architecture + Associates

New Catholic Social Services Office in Downtown Red Deer

Volume 1, Issue 3

Construction of the new Catholic Social Services building is in full swing. Structural steel is going up for the 3-storey structure on the site of the original CSS building. The new office will serve a variety of functions and includes a community connection hall, family counseling services, a wellness center, common meeting areas, and offices. The rooftop will feature a 400 m² green roof terrace, providing an outdoor space for staff to enjoy. The unique cantilevered design allows for a wide sidewalk and pedestrian-friendly space around the building's exterior with room for benches and planters. Wrap it all up with an aesthetically-pleasing façade, and the CSS office will be a great addition to Red Deer's downtown. Like our Facebook page to see this project come to life; we are chronicling its progress with biweekly construction photos.

Berry Architecture Rendering

Did you know?

Berry Architecture is striving for our Certificate of Recognition with the Alberta Construction Safety Association. As industry leaders in safety, we will be one of only 3 architecture firms in the province to have this certification. We feel this is important to our clients, employees, and consultants because it demonstrates our commitment to ensuring a safe job site and reducing liability for the customer or contractor. Everyone has the right to work in a safe environment. Safety requires effort, and the team at Berry Architecture is proud to say that we are doing our part.

berryarchitecture.ca

See you at ASCHA!

March 25 and 26th will mark Berry Architecture's 8th year at the annual Alberta Senior Citizens' Housing Association (ASCHA) tradeshow. Like all ASCHA members, we are committed to maintaining the quality of life of seniors and enhancing their well-being through housing initiatives that focus on the current and future needs of seniors. Stop by Booth 47 to see some of our latest work, enter free draws, and learn about how we have successfully assisted many organizations with grant applications and initial funding stages. Susanne, Nick, and Bonita are looking forward to visiting with you soon at the tradeshow!

Berry Architecture's State of the Art Mechanical System. Click Here

SIGN UP NOW FOR PRIME CONNECTION