Welcome New Team Member!

Berry Architecture welcomed another new team member in March! Anastacia Tunyk joined our team on March 8th. She has a diverse background as an Architect in the Ukraine and an Engineer-in-Training (Structural) in Canada. Anastacia's Revit skills are top-notch, and she will be joining us as an experienced architectural technologist, contributing 16 years of overall architectural work experience, with nine of those years in Alberta. She is able to jump right in on a number of key projects—which is very exciting for our production team. Welcome, Anastacia!

Project Update: Sunnybrook South Plaza

The Sunnybrook South Plaza in Red Deer is really taking shape, with the development of the Ing & McKee Insurance building and several Commercial Retail Units (CRUs) completed on the site so far. It is currently home to Red Deer Registries, Calyx Floral Design, and Auburn & Ash Interiors/Décor. The latest development consists of a Petro Canada Gas Station/Convenience Store, and a popular coffee shop is planned for the neighbouring CRU. Watch for future developments at this new commercial plaza!

Benefits of Virtual Reality

Berry Architecture has been using Virtual Reality as a design and presentation tool for the past several years, and we find that it has clear benefits for our clients and our design team: design changes can be made easily and inexpensively; clients can experience the space in real time, as they are actually walking through their building; we design better when we can see how elements interact in the actual settings; clients can make VR presentations to prospective buyers/user groups that allow them to experience the spaces. Could you benefit from VR for your next project? Contact Isaac at isaacm@berryarchitecture.ca.

Coldest Night of the Year Sponsorship

For the past two years, Berry Architecture has been the prime sponsor of the "Coldest Night of the Year" fundraising event for the Canadian Mental Health Association in Cranbrook, BC. The event is an important fundraiser to combat and raise awareness about homelessness in the Cranbrook area. This year's event had to be a virtual fundraiser, but George was able to be on-site to give an introductory speech on Facebook Live to kick off the event. In spite of the constraints, the Coldest Night was a great success, raising $28,400!
